The American Right

marshals its Petains
with talk of freedom,

especially in the market for legislators. What would a glorious future

be worth

if it couldn't be purchased?